COMPREHENSION

Lal Bahadur Shastri

Lal Bahadur Shastri was the second prime minister of India. He was born on 2 October 1904 in Uttar Pradesh. His father died when he was only one and a half years old. As he was poor, he had to walk several miles to reach the school. He was a follower of Mahatma Gandhi and took part in the freedom struggle against the British rule.

Lal Bahadur Shastri became the prime minister in June 1964 after the death of Jawaharlal Nehru. He coined the famous slogan of 'Jai Jawan Jai Kisan' during the 1965 war with Pakistan. It means 'Hail the Soldier, Hail the Farmer'. Lal Bahadur Shastri was a small and soft-spoken man. But he had the inner strength and determination. He was humble and simple. Even after he became the prime minister, his home was quite simple and did not have any luxuries. He died on 11 January 1966.

A Answer the following questions.

1. Where was Lal Bahadur Shastri born?

2. Why did Lal Bahadur Shastri have to walk to school?

3. What was the famous slogan coined by Lal Bahadur Shastri?

4. What kind of a person was Lal Bahadur Shastri?

5. Give one example to prove that Lal Bahadur Shastri was a simple man.

New Year Celebrations

People celebrate New Year by partying, feasting, dancing and setting off fireworks. But in many countries New Year is celebrated in quirky ways. In Spain, people eat twelve grapes for good luck at midnight on 31 December and make a wish. In Greece, people hang an onion on their door on New Year's Eve and break a pomegranate on their doorsteps before entering their houses on New Year's Day.

People in Denmark eat huge cakes. They throw plates at the front door on 1 January because they believe a person doing so will make more friends in the coming year. In Macedonia New Year is celebrated twice, first on 31 December and again on 14 January. In the Philippines, people believe round objects bring good luck in the new year. So, they eat twelve round fruits at midnight.

A Answer the following questions.

1. What do people generally do to celebrate New Year?

2. In which countries do people eat fruits at midnight for good luck in the new year?

3. Why do people in Denmark throw plates at the front door on 1 January?

4. In which country is New Year celebrated twice?

5. Which word in the passage means 'strange'?
